N. Y. Mobilizes To Run Transit

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—New York city's fire department was alerted today for possible duty in the event of a citywide transit strike, which would disrupt transportation for millions.

At the same time, municipal officials called in for interviews 1000 specialists with engineering, mechanical and electrical aptitudes.

The men, now employed in other city departments, will be screened and listed for emergency use in operating the vast transit system.

Leaders of the Transport Workers' Union (CIO) have threatened a walkout any time after midnight tomorrow unless wage boosts and sole collective bargaining rights are granted.

Fire Commr. Frank J. Quayle told his men to report for duty promptly if the strike were called. The police department was alerted over the week-end.

In answer to a question on whther the city intended to operate subways in case of a strike, Insp. James McElroy, in charge of the police planning board, said:

"Definitely, we will try to run the subways and other transit facilities."

Meanwhile, a plea by Mayor William O'Dwyer for help in averting the threatened walkout rested in the hands of CIO President Philip Murray.

The mayor in a telegram asked Murray to use his "position and influence" to avoid a tie-up which, O'Dwyer said, would result in "grave injury to the people of the city of New York and the cause of organized labor."

(One CIO official told reporters "presumably" the threat to New York's transit system would be discussed, but Murray would not comment.)

Meanwhile, the TWU had notice from O'Dwyer that the city could not under law meet a TWU demand for sole bargaining rights for 32,000 Civil Service transit workers.

The transportation employes operate subways, buses, street cars and elevated lines of the municipally owned unified transit system.

The TWU, headed by City Councilman Michael J. Quill, seeks a $2 daily wage increase for all employes. Quill offered to "step out" of negotiations personally if it would help achieve a settlement of issues at stake.

The Transport Workers Union claims to represent a majority of the transit employes but since other unions also represent many of them it was a matter of conjecture how many men would participate in a strike or what the exact effect of such an action would be.

Peron Party Seen Beaten, Breaking Up

By PERCY FORSTER

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 25 (INS)—The political organization behind Col. Juan Peron, Argentina's "strong man," began to disintegrate today in the wake of yesterday's national election, which the Democratic Union party proclaimed as an "ample majority" victory for its candidate.

Hardly had the last ballot been cast under supervision of armed troops than first signs of collapse appeared in Peron's Labor Party and the nucleus of radicals who supported his cause.

It was reported many Labor Party leaders had pulled the old "vanishing act."

Only Peron's own newspapers seem to doubt yesterday's elections hgavily favored Democratic presidential nominee Jose P. Tamborini.

Ballot boxes en route to the Congress Building from all sections of the country are under guard of both armed troops and political parties night and day.

The Congress Building, where the votes will be counted next month, bristled with artillery and machine guns.

GE Pickets Defy Injunction

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 (AP)—A solid line of 1400 pickets marched in a two-block long oval before a strikebound General Electric Co. plant here today for almost an hour in defiance of a court injunction barring mass picketing.

ARROW POINTS TO WALL OVER WHICH GREENMAN FLED
Convict Jumped to Freight Car; Fled in B. & M. Yard

Armed Convict Scales Wall at Charlestown

Edward M. Greonman, 28, formerly of Nightingale st., Dorchester, whose criminal career began when he was 15, escaped from State's Prison shortly after 1 p. m. today, going over a 23-foot wall and dropping to the Boston & Maine tracks after climbing to the top on a ladder he had made and concealed for a skillfully planned break.

Greenman was serving 6 to 10 years on concurrent sentences which would have called for more than half a century behind the bars if imposed separately. His racket was burglary, nighttime or daytime. Grand juries had indicted him on 23 counts of breaking and entering. His hauls were estimated to have netted him thousands of dollars.

He made a bid for parole last May but the board reviewed his record, ruling he should serve the 10-year-maximum.

All cruiser cars in Boston and nearby communities were alerted. Boston police teletyped Greenman's description and warned: "Is carrying gun. Use caution."

Warden Lanagan was at loss to understand how the prisoner had obtained a pistol or revolver. He said, "We have checked all our arms and not a piece is missing."

Greenman's timing was perfect. Armed guards on the walls come down and go inside when the inmates assemble for their noon meal.

Practically all of the 565 prisoners were eating in the mess hall when Greenman made his break.

He was one of 10 inmates working in the steel foundry, near the wall. A few minutes after he went over the top a guard noticed the home-made ladder.

Warden Lanagan did not disclose how it was learned the fugitive had a gun. Greenman's fellow prisoners in the foundry were among the first questioned. An ir.vestigation as to how Greenman could have made and concealed the ladder, which was 20 feet long, without its being discovered even through routine inspections, was also under way.

The escaped prisoner, dressed in gray prison uniform, was described to police searchers as being five feet six and weighing 135 pounds. His most noticeable physical characteristic, it was said, was a pair of cold "gray-green" eyes.

He had been in and out of reform schools, including Concord since he was in his teens. He made his first break from custody at 15. He and another Dorchester youth had been arrested in Norwalk, Ct. after stealing an automobile in Brookline. They escaped from the Norwalk jail but were recaptured.

Schwellenbach Hits Case Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (INS)—Labor Secretary Schwellenbach today urged the Senate labor committee to scuttle the House-approved Case anti-strike bill as "ill advised" and because it would create new labor strife instead of reducing it.

Raymond S. Smethurst, counsel for the National Ass'n of Manufacturers, countered that his organization subscribes to the basic objectives of the bill, but said the me asure fails to deal with jurisdictional strikes, monopolistic union practices, "political strikes" such as transit and power shutdowns, and inequalities under the Wagner act.

First Curley Budget Up to $55,328,186

Mayor Curley today submitted to the City Council a 1946 municipal budget estimate of $55,328,186.37, an increase of $5,067,530.18 over that of last year.

The budget is the largest overall amount ever asked in the history of the city, according to City Auditor Charles J. Fox, who commented on the invitation of reporters.

A number of reasons were given for the increase, including added payroll costs because of salary increases and appointments made during 1945 and because of the return of many veterans. Other factors were increased costs of supplies and plant repairs, retirement of employes and additional cost for old age assistance.

The mayor made no budget allowances for new equipment such as fire apparatus, trucks and automobiles, which he estimated will cost $1,000,000. He said they would be purchased by a loan and the cost—in order to keep the tax rate at a minimum—spread over the next five or more years.

It was noted that the chief executive had cut department estimates substantially from the $62,572,410 asked for by department heads, a slash of about $7,000,000.

Among the larger department needs were the following: Public welfare, $10,533,178; police, $7,100,739; fire, $5,265,761; hospitals, $4,506,390; sanitary, $3,633,318; libarary, $1,383,301; emergency compensation allotment for veterans, $1,300,000.

Card. Spellman Scores Peace Pledge Failure

By AUSTEN LAKE
Boston American Staff Writer

ROME, Feb. 25—Declaring promises of peace have not been kept, Cardinal Spellman vowed today, during services in which he took possession of his titular church of St. Giovanni and St. Paolo, he would "face the tidal wave of militant atheism."

Austen Lake

It was the final ceremonial act in the week-long, tiring ritual in which the ranks of the native of Whitman, Mass., and 31 others were raised to the dignity of the Cardinalate by Pope Pius XII and the Sacred College.

"It is empty theorizing," Cardinal Spellman declared in his sermon, "to speak of the liberation of man if the fundamental freedom necessary for human happiness is denied the freedom of religion.

"The martyrdom of American soldiers has not won the universal peace for which they shed their blood and for which they died.

"I shall endeavor to follow the example of the Holy Father in unsparing spending of myself for the spiritual and temporal welfare of my brothers—and I profess every human being to be my brother.

"It is our mission to face the tidal wave of militant atheism, unbridled immorality, vile injustice, blinding hatreds and cruelties that in this atomic age threaten death to civilization and the end of man's world."

The cardinal attended the reception given yesterday by the Spanish ambassador to the Holy See, one of the many given since the opening of the consistory last week by the various embassies represented at the Vatican or the Italian government.

The round of receptions is no doubt boring to Cardinal Spellman, who is a man of simple tastes and has no love for social ostentation. While he conforms to custom, I feel sure he is looking forward to the time to fly homeward. Even then he is scheduled for a one-day stop in Madrid on Saturday, where the American embassy will give a party in his honor.

I asked the Spanish ambassador here whether Cardinal Spellman was to meet Generalissimo

See Garage Under Common Big Boon

Construction of a garage beneath Boston Common would solve downtown parking congestion, enhance real estate values and avert the trend toward decentralization of the city's business, Timothy F. Pflueger, famed San Francisco architect, declared today.

Pflueger, who designed San Francisco's Union sq. underground garage and whose visit here was sponsored by the Boston Evening American, Record and Sunday Advertiser, told the legislative committee on cities, the San Francisco project had encouraged a development of business in that area.

"I have seen your Boston Common," Pflueger told the committee, "and I think it is a physically ideal site. It has open space contiguous to business, theatrical and other areas and a garage there could be used for night as well as daytime parking.

"You have excellent 'feeders' in Commonwealth ave and Beacon and Charles sts. If this parking area is developed you will prevent decentralization and insure for all time the permanent value of your downtown area."

He told how business and civic organizations in San Francisco at first opposed construction of the Union sq. underground garage but were the first to admit, after they saw the benefits which had been obtained after it began operation, they had been mistaken.

"Antagonism to the project here would seem to be using a tract of land with so much tradition attached to it," he continued. "There is no desecration in using this land, and, like Union sq., after the garage is built, it will be more beautiful than before."

He cited the case of one San Francisco store which had opposed the project but now is building a $3,000,000 block in the area because of the advantage derived from the nearby underground parking space.

Sale of preferred stock and a Reconstruction Finance Corp. loan financed the project, he said, and it appeared now the garage would be free and unencumbered in 21 more years.

In response to committee questions, he said the garage charged 25 cents for one-hour parking, 35 cents for two hours, 50 cents for all day and 75 cents for all night.

Business men, who were steady parkers, paid a $12.50 monthly rate without service or $20 monthly with service. However, he said, those in charge of the garage limited this type of customer, preferring to devote the bulk of the space to shoppers and occasional visitors.

Mayor Curley also recorded himself as favoring the project.

Bombay Quiet As New Riot Is Averted

By G. MILTON KELLY

BOMBAY, Feb. 25 (AP)—Royal Indian sailors who participated in a mutiny last week have returned to duty, a British communique said today, and conditions in Bombay are "practically normal."

Strikes have ended at shore installations, dockyards and all except one of the city's 66 cotton mills, the communique said, although Royal Indian Air Force personnel here still refuse to work.

A police statement said road barricades had been removed by recruiting residents of the area as laborers, and that only a few minor incidents had been reported.

Royal navy ships, including the light cruiser Glasgow, formed a double semi-circle inside the harbor, and a large force of naval personnel in white shorts and blouses came ashore for unannounced assignments.

Meanwhile, reinforced British Tommies took precautions to make certain a scheduled demonstration by students would not cause a new outbreak.

One-Day Protest Strike Locks Port

MADRAS, India, Feb. 25 (AP)—Transportation facilities were paralyzed and factories, shops and schools were closed at this east coast city today by a one-day strike in protest against the use of gunfire by British troops to subdue Bombay rioters and in sympathy with royal Indian navy mutineers.

Nameless Baby Snags Divorce

If her huband desired a snack in the middle of the night and she demurred about getting out of bed to rustle it up for him, he would tear off her nightgown and beat her, Mrs. Irene Zagarella of Sayward pl., South Boston, testified in Suffolk probate court today.

Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr., took under advisement her uncontested divorce suit against Russel Zagarella of Wakefield, serving a term in the House of Correction for violation of probation terms, it was testified.

Mrs. Zagarella testified she had six children. Judge Wilson drew from her the statement that she also had a baby not fathered by her husband. The jurist said then he was not disposed to grant her petition but consented to take it under advisement after a conference with her attorney.

"I want to go so I can go on a big boat," says Paul Schardt, 3, of Robinwood ave., Jamaica Plain.

'I want to go so I can get a new doll there," says his sister, Karen, 2.

While the children dream, their mother, Mrs. Mary Schardt, 25, weary from years of worry over war, is in the same predicament as many another American wife.

She is wondering whether she will ever get abroad to join her soldier husband in Germany, with Paul, Karen and their 8-month-old sister Kathleen, and is sad at heart when she reads about foreign girls already settled in homes here with their husbands.

"We all know that we can do nothing about it on this side, and that all arrangements must be made overseas by our husbands, through their commanding officers," she said.

"But we wish we knew something more definite than the notices in the newspapers, telling us that the War Dept. says to take our own linen, a year's supply of clothes, and silver and dishes."

Mrs. Schardt's husband, George 27, is a captain and adjutant of the Military Intelligence Center at Oberursel. After a year's service in the ETO, he came home last December for a brief furlough.

"He wanted to go back, because he felt he was needed most in Germany. He wants to stay and raise his family there as long as he can be of service," she said.

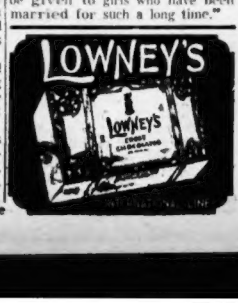
So, just in hopes, she has packed her supplies and has been shopping frantically for clothing for the children, and shoes that will fit them a year from now.

Another unhappy local wife is Mrs. Phyllis Morrison, 28, of Weybosset st., North Weymouth, whose husband, PFC George, 29, has been with the Army of Occupation near Nuremburg since last October.

MRS. PHYLLIS MORRISON

"We have been married six years, have no children, and have known each other all our lives. I have a job in a diner, but believe me, I'd rather be with him," she said.

"In the old days women went anywhere with their husbands, and I think some priority should be given to girls who have been married for such a long time."



Doolittle Tells Of Super Plane

The 1000-mile-an-hour airplane now is being built and "will fly shortly," according to Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, speaker today at M. I. T.'s first peacetime commencement since 1941. Atom-propelled rockets speeding faster than sound, with atom bomb warheads, and commercial aviation protected at all times by radar were other advances visualized by the leader of the first air raid on Tokyo and wartime commander of the Eighth Air Force in Europe.

Bay State women given degrees were Marion G. Hogan of Cambridge, Mrs. Mildred E. Lisk of Newton, Eleanor P. Collins of Cambridge, and Beverly J. Beane of Fitchburg.

"Pilotless, wingless, gyro-stabilized, rocket-propelled air weapons already have achieved speeds of about 2500 miles an hour and we may anticipate that weapons of the future will also be controlled by radio and radar," Doolittle said.

Commencement exercises in Symphony Hall still were predominately military in character. A total of 338 degrees were awarded, 179 to Navy students and seven to women. The Navy at the same time commissioned 195 reserve ensigns.

The air ace appeared in civilian clothes as a vice-president of one of the major oil companies.

"The new war weapons will be capable of travelling great distances at supersonic speeds, in the stratosphere, and will probably have an atomic warhead and may even employ atomic energy as a propulsive force," he continued.

The flying general said fog was aviation's greatest enemy, declaring that during the Battle of the Bulge "ceiling zero" weather cost more planes and airmen than the enemy. He added that by V-E Day the Eighth Air Force had three bombardment groups that could fly regardless of weather, taking off and bombing targets they never saw, then returning safely.

"Oddly, enough," he added, "all the known safety devices are not yet in general use. Every major airport should have radar to keep constant check on its planes. Planes flying the transcontinental routes should be followed by radar at all times and, in bad weather, advised if they are off their course or in danger."

President Karl T. Compton, before presentation of degrees, told graduates that the housing shortage presents the greatest opportunity in all history in the field of technology.

"Only the accumulated trash of obsolete building codes and jurisdictional entrenchments of the building trade unions stand as obstacles to a tremendous business in this area," he said.

Other commencement speakers included Capt. Albert E. Stone, district chaplain of the First Naval District, and Capt. William H. Buracker, commanding officer of the naval training schools.

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 (AP)—Official endorsement of the demand of two Georgian historians for the return of a 180-mile stretch of Black sea coast held by Turkey was put forward today by K. N. Charkviani, secretary general of the central committee of the Communist party in Georgia.

The semi-final Turkish news agency, Anatolia, retorted "for one inch of Turkish territory, all Turkey is ready to throw itself into the fire."

Boy, 14, Admits Killing Baby Girl By Drowning

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP) — Jack Turk, 14-year-old Forest Hills high school student, was held on a homicide charge today in the death of three-year-old Sybil Gurfein, found dead in the bathtub of her apartment home.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Victor Levin of Queens County said the boy had been hired by the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gurfein, to care for her while they were out Saturday night.

Levin quoted Turk as saying the child cried and he first stuffed gauze in her mouth and taped her mouth shut to make her stop. Then he said he tied a cord around her neck and placed her in the bathtub, which had been partly filled with water to discourage a pet dog from his habit of leaping into it.

The boy, according to Levin, said he then left the apartment and by subway, train and hitchhiking made his way to Whippany, N. J., where he was found by police yesterday.

These Days
The Crime Wave

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE INCREASE of crime, particularly among young people, cannot be pushed aside as a usual postwar phenomenon. That is too easy.

The fact is that just as we prepared for war, so should we have prepared for postwar expectancies.

If after every war, crime increases, the agencies of government should have been ready to deal with that increase.

This becomes an increasingly serious social problem when so many of the offenders are not returning veterans but boys and girls who never went to war.

In an era of moral laxity, the incidence of crime, particularly sex crimes, startles the community insufficiently and to its detriment.

Most modern courts have associated with them a system of probation. Leonard Probst, chairman of the Metropolitan Committee of the New York State Probation Commission, speaks of probation in these paragraphs in a valuable report he has written on the subject:

"The most definite distinction between probation and parole is that probation services are rendered before an individual has been committed to an institution while parole services are rendered after he already has spent part of his time in an institution.

"The paramount object of both probation and parole is protection for society against the future acts of either the probationer or the parolee. Insofar as it is compatible with the protection and welfare of society, both probation and parole seek the complete rehabilitation of the individual offender."

IN A WORD, probation has two functions: Investigation of the offender to discover the psychological and environmental cause of his crimes; and supervision over him, without confining him in prison, in the hope of redeeming him.

Probation is not coddling; it is the reconstruction of the individual. Not all who commit crimes are vicious, particularly among juvenile offenders.

Some are just wild, like the girl of 17 of a splendid family who was arrested with sailors and soldiers on Broadway; others are imaginative and inadequately grounded in a moral system like the boy who stole his father's savings out of the hideaway in the piano.

Probation separates such children from tough and hardened criminals and builds character where the parents have failed.

In many cities Big Brother and Big Sister movements have for many years been part of the probation machinery on a voluntary basis, but they can only be supplementary to the special officers of the court appointed for that purpose.

When such officers are political appointees, interested only in feeding themselves at the public trough, functioning inadequately, without training or imagination, not only do the boys and girls suffer but society suffers as well.

In a period of increasing juvenile crime, the agencies of probation should be extended and modernized.

IT IS CURIOUS that in the largest city in America, the probation system should be among the worst. Mr. Probst describes it as follows:

"In New York City we have eight separate and distinct probation departments. There is no desirable standardization or uniformity of methods.

"Policies, practices, methods and procedures differ with each department. There are eight qualities of probation service being rendered in the City of New York with only one department meeting, in every respect, established state standards.

"The work of three departments has improved tremendously, and if granted additional personnel, they should be able to render excellent service.

"The other departments fall far short of the goal of good probation work principally because of lack of leadership and adequate personnel . . ."

Unfortunately, this picture is wholly true and little is being done about it. For whereas crime, when it hits the front pages, is sensational and absorbing, it is generally regarded as an isolated and unusual instance of human abnormalities and nothing further is done about it.

A few serious-minded reformers attempt to fight crime with moral teachings and a recognition that only a deep grounding in objective truth can rescue any human being from effects of a lax environment.

Yet, crime may hit any home, rich or poor, decent or indecent, in this era of inadequate parental influence over the child.

It would seem wise to check the probation system in every city to see whether it is a moral institution or just another vehicle for political patronage.

Everett Mothers Picket School Over Principal

Bearing placards such as "We aim to get the dirty politicians out of the school board," a score or more Everett mothers picketed the Centre School this morning, led by the Rev. Norman J. Raison, pastor of the First Methodist Church, in protest against the board's refusal to appoint Miss Ruth D. Morrow, veteran teacher, as principal.

The board recently gave the post to Ado Comito, who served in World War II, by a 5-to-3 vote that drew boos from a pro-Morrow audience of 500 at an open meeting in Everett High School.

Commito, who was named after a deadlock that endured for 31 ballots, took over his duties this morning.

The mothers appeared as students were Ruth D. Morrow reporting for the first classes at 8:30. At no time were there more than 10 women picketing. Some stayed from 8:30 until after 9, when all classes had begun, but others left as "reserves" arrived.

School officials reported that 165 children, or 39 per cent of the 415 enrollment, were absent, most of them pupils in the first, second and third grades.

Principal Commito said this was not much above normal at this time of year, when many of the smaller pupils are kept at home on account of colds.

There was no disorder. The only controversial exchange was between a male pedestrian of foreign extraction who addressed several of the women in his native tongue. They explained indignantly afterward that he had advised them to "go home and wash the dishes."

Principal Commito's desk was decorated with floral tributes from his friends. He and Supt. of Schools Frederick A. Ashley held a conference before school began, while Miss Morrow and other teachers were discussing the situation in another room.

Ashley had opposed Commito's appointment. At the time he described him as "a fine boy and a good teacher but not experienced enough to be principal."

By BERT FORD

As an inspiration to the youth of America and as a tribute to a leader who helped build America's greatness, the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest, "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States," is announced. The contest, honoring the great military leader and statesman who guided the nation's destiny in a postwar period as critical as that of today, in a nationwide educational enterprise, open to public high school pupils, parochial high school pupils, and college students in 13 key cities throughout the conutry, with headquarters in Boston.

Awards will total $25,000 in Victory Bonds for national and local winners. These awards will be divided in equal amounts between high school and college groups, the contests to be held separately.

Both national finals and eastern zone contests will be held in Boston, the eastern zone finals on April 24, and the national finals on May 2.

Boston will hold its local competitions on April 10.

Timely and significant in these critical postwar days is the choice of Andrew Jackson as the subject of the oratorical contest. The appeal of this vivid and powerful personality is strong to American youth, particularly to the thousands of returned veterans now attending high schools and colleges under provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

These student veterans are cordially urged to enroll in the contest.

The fourth annual Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest will follow the general pattern of the previous contests that honored James Monroe, John Paul Jones and Thomas Jefferson.

The contest has been given enthusiastic endorsement by leaders in civic, religious and educational circles. Speaking for the Commonwealth, Gov. Tobin says:

"I congratulate the Hearst newspapers on their 1946 Oratorical Contest and I am sure that this year, as in past years, the contest will prove an incentive and an inspiration to patriotism for the youth of Massachusetts and the entire nation."

In behalf of the city of Boston, Mayor Curley stated:

"Boston is honored in being the headquarters of a contest of such educational and inspirational value to young Americans. The life of Andrew Jackson is in itself a challenge to the youth who may best serve their nation by understanding and conserving the principles for which this great leader stood."

In a special message Archbishop Richard J. Cushing said:

"I am happy to give my endorsement to the oratorical contest sponsored by the Hearst newspapers throughout the United States for college and high school students.

"Held annually, this contest features one of our national heroes each year. The subject of the 1946 contest is Andrew Jackson. A knowledge and love of these heroes will keep their ideal alive in the minds and hearts of future Americans.

"The Hearst newspapers are to be commended for their efforts to keep before our young people the example of these great patriots. This contest has my wholehearted endorsement and blessing."

As spokesman for the Boston public schools, Supt. Arthur L. Gould declared:

"The choice of Andrew Jackson as subject for the 1946 Hearst National Oratorical Contest is particularly fitting as an inspiration to our postwar youth, many of whom, now in high schools and colleges, have fought for their country as Andrew Jackson did. I am glad to endorse this patriotic educational measure, and I promise the full co-operation of the public high schools of Boston."

Mother's Sobs Halt Her Murder Trial

Sobbing and moaning continually, Mrs. Gertrude E. Apidianakis, 48, of Massachusetts ave., South End, went on trial before a Suffolk Superior Court jury today charged with the murder of her 12-year-old son, Earle, whose custody she feared she had lost forever.

Charged with second degree murder, she is accused of firing five death-dealing shots on Nov. 1 while he was visiting her basement apartment.

Mrs. Apidianakis slumped in a chair outside the prisoner's enclosure, her head bowed to her chest and her hands clenched in her lap. She failed to look at her husband, Michael, a hotel waiter, or at anyone else in the courtroom.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle made a brief opening, declaring that Mrs. Apidianakis divorced Michael in 1944. He said she was given custody at that time but that last September the husband obtained temporary custody and permanent custody was to have been decided at time shortly before the boy was killed.

The first witness, Police Photographer Fred Deady, brought the defendant to complete collapse. He had identified pictures of the death scene when Joseph McDonough, defense counsel, took one of them to Mrs. Apidianakis. Without looking up she began to sob, and almost slid from her chair. She cried for several minutes until Judge Francis J. Good declared a recess.

The youngster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan P. Newhall, was severely burned when her bathrobe was set afire by an electric heater.

Mrs. Newhall beat out the flames and the child was rushed to the hospital, where her name is on the danger list.

$8,000,000 State Office Building Urged

The State now is paying $350,000 yearly for office rent outside of the State House, enough to finance in a few years a proposed new state office building, it was declared today before the legislative Committee on State Administration.

Sen. Chester A. Dolan of Boston, sponsor of a bill to erect an $8,000,000 Veterans' Memorial Building, said many departments are housed far from the State House and should be brought together under one roof.

Scientists Warn A-Bomb Defense Too Complacent

By FRANCES MUSIC

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (INS)—The Ass'n of Los Aiamos Scientists, Santa Fe, N. M., today branded as a danger to the world the complacent assumption that an atomic bomb defense will be developed.

Scientists at the famed New Mexico atomic bomb laboratory said in a letter to the service publication, "Infantry oJurnal," they were convinced no specific defense against the atomic weapon was in sight.

Speaking for the executive committee, Ass'n of Los Alamos Scientists, David Hawkins declared:

"We are convinced a blind trust in the historical experience that counter-measures are bound to come would embark our nation, and inevitably the world, on an adventurous and dangerous career."

The scientist predicted at the same time "the bombs will grow more destructive." He said that these facts about the bomb were clear:

1—Knowledge which led to its development is shared internationally.

2—The great industrial effort required still leaves the atomic bomb as the "cheapest" means of mass destruction yet employed.

3—The scale on which atomic bombs can be provided by the determined effort of any great power "will be sufficient to saturate the cities of any other power."

Japs Turn In Old Yen Notes

TOKYO, Feb. 25 (AP)—Citizens throughout Japan lined up today at banks and postoffices to exchange old yen for new and to leave on deposit all currency above 100 yen ($6.66) per person.

Thus, the government launched its drastic program to stabilize the nation's currency and limit sharply its circulation, robbing the black market of access to free spending. It was also expected to force idlers to work and to provide a basis for new price-fixing.

All bills of five yen (33.3 cents) and up be exchanged by March 7. Old bills may not be used for legal tender after March 3.

Vet Fire Subs Get Curley Aid

Mayor James M. Curley today promised a five-man delegation, representing 130 veterans who are now provisional military substitutes in the Boston Fire Department, that he will ask the Civil Service Commission to hold a special examination for them.

The men face dismissal on March 15, when the new civil service list will be made operative. Peter R. Stevens, commander of the Firemen's Post, American Legion, told the mayor, that non-veterans, also on the provisional military substitute list, were able to take the regular examination given last June while many of the men he represented were still in service.

As a result, Stevens said, the non-veterans will be eligible for the 130 positions to be filled from the new list next month.

Housing Famine Keeps Suing Wife in Home With Hubby

The seriousness of Boston's housing shortage was forcefully illustrated in Suffolk Probate Court today when a comely Dorchester housewife sought to divorce a husband with whom she still shares an apartment.

Catherine Sapega of St. Margaret st. told Judge Frederick J. Dillon she had been unable to find another apartment and was living with Joseph Sapega, her recently discharged Seabee mate.

"But we sleep in different rooms," she added hastily.

She charged her married troubles began on her wedding day, Sept. 26, 1937, saying her husband punched her in front of guests. This he denied.

Real drama entered the case when the husband's counsel, David Coddare, introduced a letter received by Sapega from his wife Feb. 13, 1945, the day he landed in California from four Pacific campaigns. Under urging, Mrs. Sapaga was given the letter and read it to the court.

It told of her dcision to ask a divorce and said: "I have fallen in love with someone else though I think he has changed his mind about me lately, but still in all I'm in love with him no matter what happens. It's just one of things that happen that can't be helped."

After reading it, Mrs. Sapega said she had deliberately lied because "it seemed easier to tell her husband that way." Judge Dillon took the matter under advisment.

Power of Appeal Court to Be Tested

James Morelli, Boston attorney, today filed a motion with three judges of the appellate division of the criminal courts to test the constitutionality of the new law whereby that division is empowered to increase sentences on an appeal.

He acted in the case of Edward Goldman, 28, of Blue Hill ave., Roxbury, who(in December, was sentenced to serve five to ten years on conviction of breaking and entering. While at ' State prison Goldman—without consulting an attorney—filed an appeal for revision of his sentence, only to have the appellate division increase his term eight to fourteen years. The petition will be studied by Judges Harold P. Williams, Vincent Brogna and Walter L. Collins.

Sex of New Baby Hippo Has Chicago Zoo Guessing

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—The 40-pound bundle of joy born to Bebe, the hippopotamus, has Brookfield zoo attendants and visitors guessing.

They are asking if it's Tommy Hippo or Minnie Hippo.

Eli Mark, Bebe's keeper, thinks it's a male because of the shape of its head, but a visitor, Gilbert Scheel of suburban Oak Park, somewhat of a specialist in hippos, says it's a female because it is smaller than the three mate calves Bebe has borne.

The matter won't be decided until the young 'un comes out of the pool where it arrived, two days late, early Sunday.

Prolific Bebe showed herself an attentive mama, nudging her sixth offspring's head above water so that it could breathe.

Papa Toto, Bebe's spouse of many years, was not so paternal. Banished to bachelor quarters after a spat with Bebe last January, he was indifferently cadging peanuts three tanks away.

Sees New 10 P. C. Living Cost Rise

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said today President Truman's new wage-price policy might result in another 10 per cent increase in the cost of living over prewar levels.

"There is some possibility," he said, living costs might go to 40 per cent over prewar costs, pointing out that OPA now estimates living costs are up 30 per cent. He added:

"If we can hold there we will have done a pretty good job, in view of the large public financing."

Baby's 'Rhythmic Fever' Is Puzzle

ATLANTA, Feb. 25 (AP)—Mary Ellen Shaw, 4, boarded a train today for Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where her parents hope an answer will be found for a strange "rhythmic fever" which has beset her since infancy.

The daughter of an assistant attorney-general, she fell victim of a recurrent fever at the age of 3 months.

She is well for 10 days, then runs temperature ranging from 101 to 105 degrees for five or six days, then is normal again for 10 days. The cycle has been repeated over and over again.

Specialists have checked Mary Ellen from head to toe. They haven't found the cause or the cure. She grows weaker daily.

Bus and El Drivers Guilty, Fined in Dorchester Death

A Boston Elevated bus driver and a motorman were fined $50 each today after being found guilty by a Suffolk Superior Court jury of charges in connection with the death of Edward J. Lardner, 35, of Cedar st., Dorchester.

In sealed verdicts opened by Judge Jesse W. Morton, Raymond L. French of Connell st., Quincy, the bus driver, was found guilty of driving so as to endanger. The jury found him not guilty of leaving the scene of an accident.

The motorman, Jacob Berson of Washington st., Dorchester, was found guilty of assault and battery on Lardner, who died at Boston City Hospital on Christmas Day.

Last week Judge Morton directed a verdict of not guilty on a charge of manslaughter brought against French.

According to testimony, Lardner attempted to board a bus driven by French at Talbot ave. near Peabody sq., Dorchester, on the night of Dec. 20. Witnesses said French slammed the door as Lardner approached.

Lardner, according to testimony, ran alongside the bus as it drove away, and when a woman called out that a man had been run over French allegedly got out, saw Lardner lying in the street, returned to the bus and drove away.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary found no evidence that Lardner had been struck by the 11-ton vehicle.

Lardner's unconscious body blocked progress of a trolley driven by Berson, according to witnesses. The motorman and another man, the court was told, got out, and threw the unconscious men into a snow bank where he was later found by police and taken to the hospital.

Dry Goods Head Assails OPA

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Benjamin H. Namm, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Ass'n, today charged the Office of Price Administration with perpetrating "camouflaged inflation" upon the American people.

The OPA's so-called price line limitation," Namm said, "permitted manufacturers who did not previously produce an article to manufacture it and to introduce price schedules far above those permitted to old established manufacturers of like articles."

"To make matters worse, a large number of the 'new' articles can be described only as 'ersatz,' for most of them are inferior in workmanship and materials to the old articles."

Garage

telling the committee it was "necessary and vital to relieve the congestion of Boston's downtown streets."

He expressed the hope, however, that too much of the financial responsibility would not be imposed on the "limited" resources of the city.

"I believe this is one real, worthwhile project," he continued, "and one which will relieve a bad situation. I think it might be better to have it operated for the present by private interests in order to be of greater efficiency and provide greater courtesy to the people."

William J. McDonald, representing private interests, prepared to start construction of the garage, declared they could construct a three-story, underground garage capable of handling 3760 cars with one main entrance and five auxiliary entrances.

"We have the capital and are ready to go," he said. "All we want is the lease for 30 years and at the end of that time we will turn the garage over to the city as a free and unencumbered revenue producer."

Asked how long it would require to build such a garage, McDonald declared it could be completed in from four to six months after it was started if they could obtain priorities on the necessary materials.

"This will do no harm to the Common," he said. "Our plans consider building only under the surface of the parade ground and ball field, with underground passageways to Tremont st."

Rep. Peter J. Jordan of Revere, House Republican whip and sponsor of one of the eight bills on the matter being heard by the committee today, introduced Pflueger to the committee after speaking briefly for his own bill but declaring he would be satisfied with any measure which the committee might redraft from the eight proposals.

Rep. Jordan

He produced a stack of copies of the Boston Evening American and urged committee members to read the editorials favoring construction of an underground garage.

"The American has done an outstanding job," he declared, "and deserves the greatest of credit for enlightening the public on this matter.

"At its own expense it has brought Mr. Pflueger here to tell you of the advantages of this project and how the underground garage in Union sq. has helped San Francisco."

Harry J. Dowd, representing the Boston Executives' Ass'n, which employs more than 10,000 persons and does an annual business of $400,000,000, told the committee the project was necessary and practical and that he was willing to subscribe $25,000 personally to a bond issue to finance it.

"This is a business proposition, even if it is colored by certain emotionalism about possible desecration of the Common," he said. "I regard the Common just as sacred as others do. But it is the property of the people and should be used for the convenience of the majority of the people.

"There will be no desecration or defacement of Boston Common by the construction of this garage. It will be better following the construction."

Sen. Richard S. Bowers of Brookline, declaring the congestion in downtown Boston was "intolerable," said a recess commission should be appointed to study the matter and return with plans and specifications.

"San Francisco has shown the way in parking spaces beneath the ground and has met a serious crisis," he said. "Chicago has done the same and last year showed a net profit of $150,000 on the project. It is time we did the same to solve this acute problem."

He said he thought the garage should be financed privately.

Rep. Edward J. Mulligan, Dorchester, declared such a garage would pay for itself and suggested the possibility of having two or three such parking spaces instead of one.

Rep. Edward W. Staves, Southbridge, member of the Postwar Highway Commission, said all Franco, but he professed to have no knowledge of the Madrid arrangements. It is possible that the Cardinal may carry some message from the Pope to Franco. I don't know that this is so, but Cardinal Spellman has previously been an emissary on delicate international missions for the Vatican.

How in the world Cardinal Spellman stands up under his fatiguing program of meeting dignitaries, saying early masses and keeping appointments for church ceremonies is beyond understanding.

Today is a typical example: He said mass at 8 o'clock in the principle church of the Jesuit Order, where the body of St. Ignatius is buried and where the right arm of St. Francis Xavier is suspended over the altar, showing only a skeleton.

Then he went through a long ceremony at SS. Giovanni and Paola, where a choir of 56 picked voices from the Sistine Vatican and other major churches was matched especially for this service as a gesture of regard for Cardinal Spellman during the titular ceremony. Immediately afterward he was to attend a meeting of the Vatican diplomatic corps with the Pope. That's a sample of his usual day.

Yesterday he said mass, went to the Catholic Club to meet 1000 orphaned children, cared for by the Knights of Columbus, made many calls, then went to the San Pietro Oratory playground to meet children again. They sang chorals for him and watched him with big eyes as he made a speech in Italian in clear enunciation, but with strong American accent. He's a good linguist.

Sunday I met three Greater Boston chaplains from the occupied zone who came here for the Consistory: Capt. Joseph A. Costa from the Church of the Holy Name, Lynn; Capt. John R. Connell, formerly of the Mission Church, Roxbury, whose father, Jeremiah, runs a tailor shop in Center st., Jamaica Plain and Capt. John E. Geary, Jr., former Mission Church curate who is going home next month.

American soldiers have been much thinned out. Rome now sees only occasional small groups where the streets were once crowded with GIs. Some like it here and want to stay.

Money is worth little, the most valuable medium of exchange being American cigarets, which sell at a dollar a package on the black market. Cardinal Spellman cautioned members of his party not to exchange American dollars for black market lire.

Last act of the visit is Friday's audience for the Spellman party with the Pontiff, including personal introductions by the Cardinal.

I expect to leave Rome for Paris or Germany Wednesday if I can make arrangements for an Army plane. Correspondents in this area rate as civilians and so get no special facilities.

Plan to Bar Reds Laid to 3 Allies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (INS) —A charge that American, British and French diplomats are trying to squeeze Russia out of the Allied hunt for German assets in western neutral countries was laid before the Senate war mobilization subcommittee today.

Russell A. Nixon, a former military government official in Germany, claimed certain forces in the state department and in the British and French foreign offices were making an "unwarranted and diligent effort to disunify the four powers."

Nixon said that four-power action in ferreting out from $1,500,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 in hidden "external" German assets would "lay bare the Fascist or reactionary regimes in countries such as Spain, Portugal, Switzerland, Sweden and Argentina and would reveal all elements of collaboration of certain interests in the Allied countries with these regimes."

A Message from President Truman

It is of the utmost importance that the American people understand the status and significance of our new Regular Army. It will be the duty of this volunteer Army to help protect the freedoms and maintain the peace we have won at so great a cost.

Atomic power has increased rather than decreased the necessity for our preparation, both in manpower and material. In the coming atomic age, the United States must maintain its military strength—to insure our national security and to promote world order.

Such grave responsibilities obviously cannot be met by anything less than the highest caliber of men. For this reason, I asked Congress for legislation to increase the opportunities of the soldier in the Regular Army. This legislation has been passed and signed by me, and is now in effect.

In serving his country, a man can now get good pay, education, travel and security—with family allowances for his dependents and a new 20-year retirement plan that compares with or excels anything in American industry. These, and the many other advantages of the new Regular Army, should be made known to all our service men and their families.

The Army has embarked upon a worldwide campaign to enlist enough men so that, in demobilizing, we shall not strip our services below the peacetime need. It is imperative that public support be given to this program. We must replace as soon as possible men who have served long and arduously, and who wish to return to civil life. We must also build an Army of volunteers adequate to all our requirements—at home and abroad—until the long-range peace terms and military policies are worked out.

I hope that every individual and group will give earnest and enthusiastic co-operation to this great effort to rebuild our Regular Army. The success of this campaign is vital to the performance of our tremendous task of securing the peace.

SINUS TROUBLE CAN BE CURED with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England, about one out of five have a "germ" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More bodily ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Reich Tars on Prinz Eugen Given Gala Phila. Party

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 (AP)—Two hundred and seventy-six members of the German crew of the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen entrained today for New York to board ships for the Fatherland after what the Philadelphia Record described as a "gala farewell party" was held by "friends, relatives and pro-Germons."

Officials of the 4th Naval District met after their departure but therew as no immediate statement.

In a page one story, the newspaper reported "as far as liquor, food, other delicacies and comradeship went, the spectacle aboard the German warship was as fitting a farewell party as any prewar bon voyage party in the United States."

"Despite navy yard regulations," the Record said, "liquor flowed on the Nazi vessel. Flush-faced groups of Germans and Americans raised their voices in German beer hall songs. And in corners girls held hands with the German sailors."

The Philadelphia Navy Yard, the Record story asserted, was "thrown wide open" for the German sailors.

The newspaper quoted a discharged sailor who was visiting a relative on an American ship as saying: "If I didn't know I was in the Philadelphia Navy Yard I'd think I was at Bremerhaven or a Munich beer hall. I never saw anything so disgusting in my life."

Adm. C. H. Cobb, naval base commandant, was quoted by the Record:

"I intend to look into this matter and find out exactly what did happen."

Capt. A. H. Graubart, Los Angeles, commanding officer of the American crew aboard the ship, described the Record story as "a perversion of truth."

The Prinz Eugen is being stripped of its armamnet here to be used in the armed forces' atomic bomb experiment.

More Long Distance Circuits for You

Today, all over the country, telephone men like these are pushing ahead on this big job . . . setting up the circuits needed for all the Long Distance calls people are making nowadays. Within a year, over 2,000,000 miles of circuits will be added to the Bell System.

For several years, all telephone production was turned to meet the instant needs of war. But, once again, our regular job . . . serving you . . . comes first. Right now, some calls, even those of homecoming servicemen, must occasionally go over crowded lines. That's why the operator sometimes says that there will be delay on your call. But, as more circuits are added from month to month, we will become increasingly better equipped to handle everyone's call . . . fast.

We are on our way towards bringing you a higher quality of Long Distance service than you've ever had before.

"Pal" is the pet of Jackie Griffin, 9, of 34 Mercier ave., Ashmont, but she's a good friend to everyone in Jackie's family of seven.

Jackie tells about it today in his prize winning, $5 letter in the Boston Record-American contest "Why I Love My Dog." The whole Griffin family is in favor of legislation that will outlaw forever the cruel practice of vivisection in Massachusetts. Here is Jackie's letter:

"Pal loves to play with all members of my family, including my sisters, Jean, June, Joyce and Jeri. You would think she belonged mostly to Jeri, who is only 2 years old. She dresses her up in baby clothes, puts her in a carriage and wheels her around the house. She is a good watchdog and keeps strangers out of our yard. She sleeps right outside our bedroom door at night and keeps on guard.

"Pal is a thoroughbred Doberman-Shepherd and is friendly with all the kids and other dogs in the neighborhood. She never gets cross. She always is waiting for me when I get home from school at 3 o'clock, but Saturday is our real day. We can play together all day long. She has lovely brown eyes and she can almost talk. She's about the best friend a fellow could ever hope to have."

All letters on the subject, "Why I Love My Dog," should be addressed to the Anti-Vivisection Editor, Boston Record-American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass. The contest is open to all, and these newspapers will award a $5 prize each day for the best letter.

INFLATION

THE FIRST STEP toward solving a problem is to understand clearly what the problem is.

Due to a general lack of this understanding, the Administration is having little success in meeting the problem of inflation.

In this matter, as in various others, there is no complete or coherent policy.

There is rather a medley of policies—or ideologies—in conflict with realities and even with each other.

The consequence is that measures undertaken as remedial are likely to make a bad situation worse.

The official confusion is well shown by some of the sentences in Mr. Chester Bowles' recent exhortations to Congress and the public.

"There isn't going to be any inflation," said Mr. Bowles.

Actually, a very considerable inflation is here now and has been for quite a while.

But Mr. Bowles was probably not consciously kidding the public.

He seems really to believe that inflation consists in high prices and IN NOTHING ELSE, and that, if he can "fix" prices, he will prevent inflation—even though the merchandise may disappear or may be found only in the black market at illicit but inflationary prices.

HIGH PRICES are after all merely the SYMPTOM of inflation and are due ordinarily to the decline in value of the monetary unit.

Treating the SYMPTOM is not the REMEDY for the DISEASE.

Mr. Bowles also declared that "today production is surely at the highest point ever achieved in peacetime."

That is obviously impossible because on the very day when the statement was made the automotive industry, the steel industry, the electrical goods industry, the meat packing industry and the farm equipment industry were all OUT OF PRODUCTION because of wage-price troubles, while the housing industry—mainly because of price controls—HAD NOT BEEN ABLE TO GET STARTED.

MR. BOWLES GAVE NO STATISTICS TO SUPPORT HIS ASSERTION OR TO EXPLAIN WHY—IF PRODUCTION WAS SO ABUNDANT—HOUSEWIVES WERE UNABLE TO BUY BUTTER, RETURNING VETERANS WERE UNABLE TO FIND SUITS, SHIRTS AND UNDERWEAR AND WOMEN GENERALLY COULD NOT OBTAIN NYLONS NOR MANY OTHER DESIRED ARTICLES OF APPAREL.

MR. BOWLES approached the facts when he said:

"Production is the only answer to inflation."

This was only partly accurate, for production is merely half the answer to the current problem.

With complete misunderstanding of POSTWAR necessities, he said:

"It is, of course, expanding production which will bring us to the point where PRICE, RENT AND WAGE CONTROLS CAN BE DROPPED."

The hard economic truth is that price, rent and wage controls must be dropped BEFORE PRODUCTION CAN EXPAND SUFFICIENTLY TO KEEP PACE WITH THE INCREASING INFLATION.

THE GOVERNMENT'S FINANCIAL POLICIES ARE PREVENTING PRODUCTION.

CRUEL PRACTICE

THE Massachusetts House of Representatives has passed a bill to allow the exhibition of horses with tails that have been set or docked.

Obviously, some members have been swayed by bad advice.

The setting or docking of horses' tails is a cruel and unnatural practice, and laws permitting it have no place on the statute books of an enlightened State.

Decency should oblige the Governor to veto this bill so firmly that nothing like it will ever be presented on Beacon Hill.

"WHAT musical piece did the British band play when the English Gen. Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown?" That was the query recently tossed at this department. And those fellows on "Information Please" think they get tough questions. Well, anyway, I have the answer. From the "Student's American History," by D. H. Montgomery I quote: "On Oct. 17, 1781, Cornwallis sent out a white flag and asked for terms. Two days later, Oct. 19, 1781, the British garrison, with colors cased, marched out between the lines of the American and French forces, which formed an avenue more than a mile in length. The captive army moved with slow and solemn steps, their drums beating the quaint but highly appropriate tune of 'A World Turned Upside Down'."

JUSTICE TRIUMPHS: The last name in the Champaign-Urbana, Ill., telephone book is again Bob Zuppke. After the name of the celebrated football coach had occupied this honored position over 20 years it was unexpectedly usurped by the name of Elmer Zylch. Investigation revealed this was one of those "phony" phone names used as a listing for a group of local wits. The multitude of admirers of the Illinois football coaching genius indignantly protested with the result the name of Zylch was eliminated and that of Zuppke restored to its rightful position. Another triumph for justice!

YOUNG GRANDMA: A grandmother at the age of 31. That is the record of Mrs. Mildred Bologna of Long Island City, N. Y. Her daughter Leona, the proud mother, is 18. Mrs. Bologna was married at the age of 12. During the recent war she drove a truck. My informant says: "So the Borough of Queens has a 31-year-old truck driver who is a grandmother. Let Brooklyn try to top that!"

MR. BENNY'S CAT: Jack Benny was recently presented with a cat. Visiting a Beverly Hills market, Mr. Benny, after considerable bargaining, arranged to have the butcher put aside a small quantity of meat daily for the cat. After two days Jack called the butcher and cancelled the order for the meat. "What's the matter, has your cat died, Mr. Benny?" asked the butcher. "No," said Jack, "he's caught a mouse."

Jack Benny

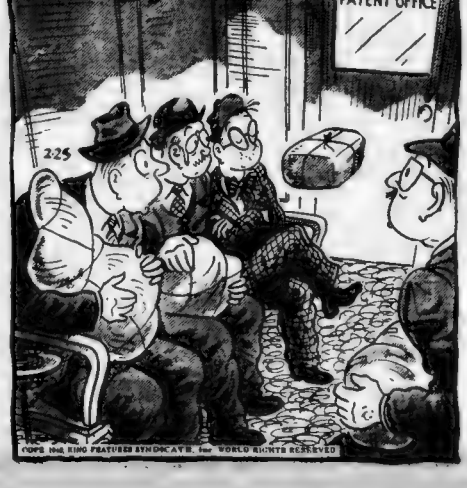
ASIDES: It is claimed by those who should know that the American soldier was given a better time and a squarer deal in Chicago than in any other city in the USA . . . It was John Hay who said: "Abraham Lincoln was as just and generous to the rich and well born as to the poor and humble—a thing rare among politicians."

PASSING BY: Darryl Zanuck has been a film executive for nearly 20 years. Evidently the task is beginning to get on his nerves. In a recent conference with some of his subordinates Mr. Zanuck exclaimed pettishly: "Don't say yes until I've finished talking."

ENGAGEMENT RINGS: So far I have never seen a man wearing an engagement ring. But it is being done. A New Jersey subscriber says she presented her fiance with a topaz engagement ring. Topaz is the young gentleman's birthstone. He was very proud of the ring and has been wearing it all the time he has been in the armed forces, including his service on fighting fronts. He is still wearing it, but in conjunction with a wedding ring as he and the girl of his dreams are now a merry matrimonial pair. Keep this in mind, young woman. After accepting that proposal of marriage don't fail to buy an engagement ring shyly to slip on the trembling finger of your fiance. Needless to say, after slipping the ring on the lucky man's hand it is you who should take the initiative in the matter of the kiss. And make it good!

WRITES A CHICAGOAN: "In response to a query as to what sort of place Florida was for dogs you answered 'Don't know. Never brought a dog there.' Only people reared in Brooklyn use 'bring' where the English language sanctions nothing but 'take'." (Note: Thanks for the correction, mister, but before I send you the stogie I shall have to brush off my book of grammar and check. This discussion recalls that at a ball in Chicago Walter O'Keefe, then a student at Notre Dame, asked a young woman for the next dance. The girl replied: "I'm gonna dance with the guy what brung me." Recalling this in later years Walter used it as an idea for a song.)

EXCEPTION: Transferred from the outfield to first base, Detroit's Hank Greenberg demanded more money. He said the task of guarding the initial sack was so arduous it shortened a player's career. Maybe Hank is right. But there have been exceptions. "Pop" Anson of Chicago played first base for 27 years.



FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate

I THOUGHT this discussion of a site for the United Nations plant was to be conducted on a high, gentlemanly plane but some of those bums on the other side of the debate had to get nasty about it, so let's everybody grab a chair and play their way.

Westbrook Pegler

In the first place, that bunch of cosmic moochers had plenty of nerve to pick the prettiest countryside in the New York area and, moreover, a zone which in the next 20 years or so would provide home sites for many more thousands of Americans who work in New York but like the sight and sound of a bird, and to look on trees and flowers and hills and would not willingly condemn their children to the associations and influences that are encountered in the public schools of New York.

And don't anyone give me that old democracy line either about the spiritual benefit of association with other social and racial "groups" or I will bust you right back with the fact that none of the five children of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who has been sounding that prattle for years and years, nor she nor their father, either, ever spent an hour in a public school but were carefully segregated from the lower classes in fastidious pay-joints.

TO HEAR SOME of the abuse of those who live in and beyond the Westchester-Greenwich area, you might think they were nothing but a lot of bridge-playing, high-suburban blubberheads who would wreck the peace of the world and sacrifice not only the rising generation but the little that remains of civilization to protect their mean little investments.

Well, for those who like it, bridge is no less legitimate than forums, conferences, councils and congresses which are the pleasure of so many of those shallow-minded fakers who would like to make us address the chair and go through some committee every time someone wants to kick the cat.

The service records of those commuters in the wars of their respective generations will stand comparison with those of any other group of equal numbers, not excluding Franklin D., Henry Wallace and Sidney Hillman.

The same proportion of their sons went to this war, too, and I will just help myself to the arbitrary assumption that, if peace and civilization did depend on the cession of this particular site and no other site on earth for the realm of the UNO, every one of these Americans would gladly yield and shove on down the road.

BUT NO REASON has been given why the UNO must have this patch and no other and so the suggestion that the citizens who don't want to move are jeopardizing anything but some ulterior purposes is abusive nonsense.

Moreover, there is no excuse for gouging out of the living body of the United States, and alienating it, any section that may finally be selected. Under reciprocity we give the embassies of other countries a mild type of autonomy but the ground they stand on is still part of the District of Columbia and there were no complaints but, on the contrary, suppressed cheers when some of them indulged in a humane abuse of our hospitality to peddle a few drams of liquor under prohibition.

The correct place where this organization should have its plant distinctly is nowhere near New York or Washington, which are infested with a formidable quantity and variety of organizations devoted to interference in our politics and the confusion of our opinions.

There are hundreds of these ill-mannered and arrogant things all devoted to some religious, racial or national interest abroad and to the proposition that every American boy owes "democracy" a duty to go to a series of wars in their behalf.

They are so influential that even the Republicans are afraid to tell them where to go with their demands lest they alienate the segregated "foreign" vote in the metropolis.

LINCOLN, NEB., wanted this plant and, although Lincoln never had a chance for obvious reasons, she would be a good selection.

If it is the lack of plays and movies presented by our Communist producers, and saloons and rich trash for night-life that makes a site undesirable, then why not be honest and reopen Paris as the political plague spot of the world?

We have thousands of miles of government reservations in the West which could accommodate the UNO for all its legitimate purposes and let anyone who objects on the ground of cold or heat consider whether a Russian or a Finn could reasonably complain of the cold in, say, Wyoming, or an Arab of the heat in Arizona.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25—Just a few months ago I mentioned that all of a sudden there was a great demand in the book stores for the novels of the late F. Scott Fitzgerald who made the flappers of the roaring '20s both immortal and a bit immoral.

Most of the customers are bobby-soxers, which surprises me. I thought those kids were too busy writing today's history. Now I'm told that Paramount is doing a remake of one of the best of the Fitzgerald books, "The Great Gadsby."

Alan Ladd

And here is the surprise: Alan Ladd steps into an entirely different role as the star—a man who comes back from World War I thoroughly cynical and disillusioned. The script is being prepared by Cyril Hume, who was a schoolmate of Fitzgerald's in Hackensack and knew him well.

I HAPPEN to know that when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was in town he telephoned Darryl F. Zanuck at Palm Springs, and thereby hangs a story.

Eisenhower had dinner with agent Leo Morrison, an old-time friend, and discussed with Leo the possible filming of his life story. You guessed it, Gen. "Ike" wants Zanuck to make the picture and I believe I am safe in saying Darryl will do it.

IF—AND WHAT a big word that is in any language—Gregory Peck can manage his thousand and one commitments, he will get the lead in "Earth and High Heaven." He already has talked to Sam Goldwyn and Greg told me that he likes the script and was greatly interested in the book. "I would like to do it," said the man with the voice that charms the birds out of the trees, and the girls out of their minds, "if it can be arranged." I bet you my life Sam will leave no stone unturned to arrange it.

I'M BEGINNING to feel sorry for old Broadway. No sooner does a great actor turn up in a hit stage play than Hollywood nabs him. The latest draftee is Oscar Karlweis, who scored sensationally in "Jacobowsky and the Colonel." Those wonder boys, Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder, have just signed Karlweis to play Franz Joseph in "The Emperor Waltz." Some cast—Bing Crosby, Joan Fontaine, and now Karlweis. Charlie and Billy certainly started something on my air show when Billy said, "All you need to be a good director is a good script." What a tempest this has started among some of our other directors.

THOSE WHO are close to the Alan Marshals wouldn't be a bit surprised if he withdrew from the world and went into retreat. He's become deeply religious—almost esthetic—and only interested in spiritual things. His wife has urged him to return to the screen, but he has no interest in anything of a material nature. Mrs. Marshal, who is a beautiful woman and who was an actress before she married him, is planning to resume her career. Marshal's determination to change his mode of life came after a long period of depression and a nervous collapse.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Well, we will know early in March whether or not

"It's a sort of victory garden. The wife and I argued about it and she won!"

Virginia Bruce will marry Corney Jackson, head of the J. Walter Thompson Agency in Hollywood. Corney has a plane reservation for Feb. 26 to go to Mexico to see Virginia. When I asked him if they were going to be married he said, "Well, that's my purpose in going to Mexico now — to ask her to become my wife." Whether or not Virginia will say yes, I don't know. She once told me she would never marry again, since she has had two marriages—but a lady can change her mind.

I AM NOT SURPRISED 20th grabbed Gail Patrick for the second femme lead in "Claudia and David." She was one of the two real beauties (I ain't mentioning the other) at a party last week. If Gail is unhappy and upset about her divorce it certainly doesn't show on her or else she's a better actress than suspected. She'll play Dorothy McGuire's sister, the girl who innocently causes the trouble between Claudia and David (Bob Young). I must remind myself to drop out on this set when the picture starts. So many of my favorite people are in it, including Walter Lang, who'll direct.

SOME OF OUR best movie money is going into investment in Las Vegas, which has not only become the Gretna Green, but a runner-up for Reno on divorces, and, I might add, gambling is no small attraction. I have just heard that both Roy Rogers and Frank Sinatra are putting money into hotel and resort investments in Las Vegas. Rogers is a member of a syndicate that bought property this week adjoining the El Rancho Vegas, with the idea of operating a dude ranch. Frankie has put a sizeable chunk of dough into another syndicate that will build a hotel. That reminds me, Frankie is going to get "Cabbages and Kings" at M-G-M, which should be another "Anchors Aweigh."

DON'T EVER LET anybody tell you that President Truman hasn't a sense of humor. Gracie Allen and George Burns kidded him on the radio in a terrifically funny broadcast last Thursday. The President apparently was listening in to our Gracie, for he sent her a wire in which he said: "We all enjoyed the show immensely. There was more truth than poetry in many of the jokes. Mrs. Truman, Margaret and myself listened with a lot of pleasure. I'd like a copy of the script."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Lady Sylvia Stanley, the former Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, is in town. She tells me she cannot get a divorce from Lord Stanley for three years, according to English law; Maureen O'Sullivan and John Farrow have again dated the stork—their fourth child; the Johnny Johnsons surprised even their friends by their sudden separation. The Paramount crooner admitted the rift Saturday; there's talk that once again Marilyn Maxwell and John Conti are battling; for the first time since Frances Westerman became Mrs. Bergen, the Bergens' house atop the hill was thrown open for a formal party. Everyone had such a good time because there was entertainment everyone loves. Edgar had invited all his friends who do magic tricks and believe me, they were no amateurs. Chester Morris, Bert Kalmar and dozens of Los Angeles business men did their pet trick. At each place was a series of tricks with instructions how to do them. It was very funny to see the Red Skeltons, Gracie Allen and George Burns, Gene Raymond, Louis B. Mayer, Lorena Danker, Irene Selznick and Eddie Dubchin trying to do the various tricks. Edgar saved the piece de resistance to the last—Charley McCarthy, of course. The Peter Rathvons were there and Mrs. Rathvon, who is so charming, sat with us. Dorothy Lamour was just "accidentally" carrying pictures of her baby. She and Bill Howard are at the Arizona Biltmore for two weeks' vacation. Jeanette MacDonald did the old trick of spinning a wedding ring on a string to tell whether the Edgar Bergens, the Charles Corrells and the Kay Kysers babies would be boys or girls. This is the way it came out: Girls for the Corrells and Bergens and a boy for the Kysers; Susan Peters, who has been very sick, is reported better; no wedding bells for Olga San Juan has handed Carlos Ramirez back his ring. Looks as if her family won out. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 25—I was half-asleep in one of those screwed-down swivel chairs, roughing it out in the Gulf Stream, when the rod began shimmying like mad and Gen. Stonewall Jackson's grandson exclaimed:

"I think you had better begin pulling in. And I would advise you to keep your fool thumb off the reel. What do you think you have on the other end—a perch?"

Well, I sweated and pulled and tugged, getting a nice set of skinned knuckles when the reel handle slipped, and finally boated the nicest front end of a kingfish, or king mackerel, you ever saw. It did not have any back end, which I thought was rather odd until Stonewall Jackson's grandson explained:

"You did not get it in fast enough. A shark or maybe a barracuda did the same to it as it tried to do to your bait. This happens quite frequently. If all the front ends of kingfishes that are boated here were put end to end you would have a very peculiar-looking spectacle, I am sure."

This grandson of Gen. Jackson may sound like a cute kiddie, but he is a mature man. He is Col. Thomas Jackson Christian, commanding officer of the Army service forces on Miami Beach. Although he is a military man like his grandsire, he has many other things to do except prevent Barbara Freitchie from being shot in the head.

UNTIL RECENTLY he was the biggest hotel operator in the world. He had direct charge of 161 hotels on the beach which the Army commandeered. A total of 500,000 men and 50,000 officers were trained here for the Army air forces alone.

He has only one hotel left, the Nautilus, and wishes he were out of that, too, because he does not care for the hotel business.

"We certainly had a fine lot of plush barrackses," he said. "Many of the returning GIs could not get accustomed to the splendor. After a few days they would ask for a tent and if we couldn't provide that they would take their blankets and sleep out on the lawn.

"The rooms they turned their noses up at are now renting at $40 a day," added Col Christian. "It just goes to show, doesn't it?"

We were on one of the Army's "Q" boats, the skipper of which was PFC Harold Traxler, who used to be a printer in New York. It turned out that PFC Traxler knew a lot of editors I used to work for and we had a fine time putting the slug on them.

The private and the colonel were extremely pally and when I asked about this Col. Christian said: "His rank is really PFCC—Personal Friend of Col. Christian."

SOMEHOW THE TALK got around to the atom bomb and Col. Christian said:

"From the time men first began fighting each other nine principles of war have been recognized — cooperation, movement, mass, surprise, economy of forces, objective, simplicity, offensive and security or defensive.

"But all the first eight were based upon, or revolved around, the last—security. Against every weapon or maneuver there was a defense—or, as Tom Jenkins, the wrestling coach at West Point always says, 'there's a break for every hold.'

"But there is no known defense or security against the atom bomb. This means that all the other principles go out the window. It looks as if everything any of us known about war isn't going to be worth a nickel from now on."

THIS SEEMED pretty grim conversation for a fishing excursion, so I asked Col. Christain if he did much fishing.

"Quite a bit," he said, "and I have a story to tell which points up an interesting moral. I was out here a while back with Maj. Gen. Frederick Uhl, former head of the Fourth Service Command, and Brig. Gen. James Walker, now military attache in Mexico City. The skipper asked if we would care for anything to drink.

"Gen. Uhl said he would have ice water. Gen. Walker said he would have a soft drink. I said I would have beer.

"I drank the beer and I caught two splendid sailfish. The others caught nothing all day. I think this proves that ice water and soft drinks are no good for fishermen!"

COL. CHRISTIAN said the G.I.'s here are deeply resentful over the profligacy they witness on every hand. They want to know if this is what they were fighting for.

"But something happened last month which made me, an old Virginian, very happy," he said. "As you know, it is almost impossible to get train reservations without paying graft.

"A rather important gentleman paid a $50 premium under the table for a reservation and was so afraid of losing it he put it in a safety deposit box.

"The day he was due to leave he went to the bank to get his ticket. But he discovered all the banks were closed because it was Jan. 19—Gen. Robert E. Lee's birthday!"

WE CAUGHT 50 huge kingfish. I'm a liar. We only caught four.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS (Exclusive): For the first time in the history of Boston, a female will act as "censor" of entertainment and carry the unofficial title "assistant city censor" . . . She is Miss Beatrice Whelton, a cousin of Mrs. James M. Curley, and a department store employe currently on leave of absence from her regular job.

"LITTLE BROWN JUG" is taking tangible shape as a show New York must rate as a potential hit . . . Business has gone up in steady spurts, and the exciting drama by Marie Baumer has far exceeded "Harvey's" box-office draw in the same theater . . . Business has been so good, in fact, that the Boston engagement has been extended another week . . . Even Courtney Burr, the producer, is ready to concede a point for the business validity of casting a currently popular Hollywood figure in the leading role of a new dramatic offering . . . Percy Kilbride, who plays the disarming "menace" named Ira in "Little Brown Jug," could be working the Hollywood film factories in three shifts, if they had them . . . His countrymen have taken him to their hearts as the currently ideal "hick" character of the fillums.

A GOOD SOLID MAN and an artist in his soul, Mr. Kilbride meantime was undergoing a silent agony within himself at the "type-casting" from which—while he remained quiescent as a $3000-a-week character player in Hollywood—there was no appeal . . . While his agent weeped gallons and his friends lamented his temerity, Kilbride ventured back to the Broadway he loved in disregard of the kicking around the Big Street always gives its acolytes simply because the mechanics of the legitimate theater has no place for more than five players a year who can make even half as much as $3000 a week.

THE GODS MUST be on the side of a rebel against the Hollywood rote which eventually kills an Edward Arnold in fat-man roles, a Percy Kilbride in "handyman" roles and Dead End Kids by persuading these half-formed minds that they are "tough" in real life as they are in pictures . . . "Little Brown Jug" had finished its first full week when the whim of film-booking gave it and Percy a break by thrusting two Kilbride epics on the Greater Boston public . . . In one, "Fallen Angel," he does a beautiful and much-needed job of "supporting" Alice Faye (recovering from motherhood) and Dana Andrews (who didn't manage to get to war) . . . This fillum is playing in various local theaters.

In "She Wouldn't Say Yes," the second picture, Kilbride actually steals the show from Roz Russell and Lee Bowman . . . (It is playing here and there and everywhere like "Fallen Angel.")

You can wager that the balcony of the Copley will get its share of movie-goers who appreciate the Kilbride acting in these movies . . . At the Copley, their man may be seen "in the flesh"—sparse as Percy's happens to be.

Which is all to the good . . . Kilbride is a fine fellow as well as actor . . . And there is not a gentleman in the theater whose capacities are greater than Boston-Newtonbred Courtney Burr . . . Nor an individual in the producing ranks who carries so much good will on his tailored shoulders.

TO MAKE IT AN all-theatrical column, for a change, here is an interesting and true anecdote on "State of the Union," a great play with a real message and social significance of an American brand by Howard Lindsay (who is a graduate of a Boston high school) and Russel (Buck) Crouse, who also went to school (He MUST have) . . . Bretaigne Windust, the director of "State of the Union," had been having quiet concern over Neil Hamilton, the very nice guy who gets his first important crack at theatrical success in the play which opens tonight at the Colonial Theater.

Mr. Hamilton is a devout man, and the script has given him more than one unwished opportunity to use the name of the Deity, but not—we are assured—in a profane or irreverent manner . . . Well, Mr. Hamilton went all through rehearsals like a good soldier, reading his lines as written . . . But each time he came to the name of the Deity, he subconsciously lifted his eyes upward, toward Heaven . . . To a meticulous director like Windust, this seemed out of place and a digression from the business of the play which was noticeable . . . He pondered for days over his problem . . . He certainly would not offend Mr. Hamilton, and he was sympathetic with the actor's reverence . . . The other night, in Boston, he did some praying and there came a solution . . . Before the next rehearsal, he strolled over to the actor . . . "Neill!" he said. "I dislike mentioning this, because I know that you revere God, as I do. But I know also that a mannerism which derives from your soul has now become a gesture . . . It is out of place in this play . . . I'm going to leave one thought with you . . . God is everywhere!"

Common Garage

engineers had agreed on arterial highway surrounding Boston would be useless unless adequate off-street parking was available in the city.

Others recorded in favor included Reps. Enrico Cappucci, East Boston; Richard Kelly, South Boston; John Wicks, Dorchester; Paul Feeney, Hyde Park; Edward A. Hutchison, Boston; Edmund E. Capodilupo, Boston, and Thomas Riley, Boston; John Cahill, chairman of the Democratic State Committee; Sen. Joseph Murphy, Dorchester, Democratic floor leader, and Governor's Councilor John E. Sawtelle.

Daniel Bloomfield, representing the Retail Trade Board, told the committee such a garage would help materially although it might not solve the parking problem entirely. He declared it would in no way affect or impair the appearance of the Common Opposition was registered by the Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the Boston Common Society, and Myron E. Pierce, the organization's secretary, who declared the project would "desecrate" the historic ground of the Common and would increase, not relieve, traffic congestion.

In closing the hearing, Sen. Ralph Lerche of Northampton said it probably would be a week before the joint committee would report.

Robbed of $14,700 In Chicago Home

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—An 87-year-old retired streetcar conductor was robbed of $14,700 last night by two men who waylaid him in his home.

The victim, William Farrar, said he kept his money hidden in the house until three months ago, when he started to carry it with him because he feared thieves. The stolen currency was in 12 $500 bills, 42 $100 bills and the rest in fifties, twenties and tens.

Churchill Call To Trial Pressed

NUERNBERG, Feb. 25 (AP)—Joachim von Ribbentrop's attorney told the international military tribunal today an alleged prewar declaration by Winston Churchill that Britain would form a coalition of nations to "destroy Germany if she should become too strong" may have inspired Hitler to rearm Germany and to plan aggressive wars.

The statement was made during arguments on Ribbentrop's request that Churchill be summoned to testify at Nuernberg

Housing Problem

HOBBS, N. Mex., Feb. 25 (AP)—The J. W. Bowles have a housing problem all of their own—skunks have taken up residence with them.

So far the Bowles (1) bought a dog, which only made the skunks angry; (2) Piped exhaust fumes from a truck under the house—with smoked wallpaper the only result.

At last reports, they (the Bowles) were open to suggestions.

Eager to Marry But Too Shy

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

QUITE A LOT OF LETTERS have been coming in from returned servicemen who complain that they're painfully shy and self-conscious with girls.

Here is a typical letter of that kind:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"I really am ashamed to admit this at my age, but I have decided to tell you my problem. I am a man of 28, single, and would very, very much like to marry.

"But words cannot express how angry I am at myself for being so bashful and shy. I blush very easily, and I also have a tremendous inferiority complex. Occasionally, when I am in the company of as many as four or five people, I am completely speechless and feel embarrassed. In other words, I feel like a dummy. I have some men acquaintances, but no girl friends whatsoever. I have just been discharged from the Navy after almost five years of service.

"I would very much like to know what gives me this handicap and how I can overcome it.

"Discouraged Veteran."

It would probably take a psychiatrist to find out what gives you this handicap, but you don't necessarily need one to help you get over it. For there are plenty of painfully bashful people cursed with an inferiority complex who do get over it with a little patience and persistence. And most cheering of all, many of the timid ones do eventually find the right girl—or the right man, as the case may be—marry her, and live happily ever after.

How do they do it?

Well, primarily, I think, they get so interested in other people that they forget themselves. They don't let themselves stay away from parties and other social gatherings just because they sometimes feel uncomfortable at them. They make it a rule to go everywhere they're asked, and, when they're talking to someone, find out what the other person is interested in and then let him or her do the talking. The other person loves it, and it saves them from that embarrassment of feeling "completely speechless," as you say.

Look at Your Complexion

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

REMEMBER with what great identifying gusto John Charles Thomas sings: "I love life, I want to live" . . . and how deep down in your heart you'd re-echo the truth of those stark, simple words?

Well, every day of your life your complexion drones the same words to you . . . "I love life, I want to live" . . . but do you hear them, let alone heed them? This isn't a far-fetched comparison . . . not by a long shot.

Take a look around you . . . and see how many faces you'd honestly say were attractively alive . . . that looked as robust and vital and wonderfully vibrant as nature intended they should look. Take a good look at your own complexion. Yes, I know . . . life is so complicated . . . there are so many things that must be done and so little time in which to do them . . . so many nerve-straining things that get you down you cut corners where you think they won't show.

I know . . . for I'm human, too . . . or did you think a beauty editor was a gal apart? Many nights I've been so dog-gone tired, I just wanted to crawl into bed . . . pull up the covers and sleep without doing the usual chores a fastidious woman is expected to do. For that split second . . . demon neglect was about to get the better of me . . . but it didn't.

Of course you say to yourself . . . one night won't kill my beauty . . . and perhaps it won't . . . but the moment you let that one night pass . . . one gets into two and pretty soon arithmetical progression tolls a cracked bell of beauty.

To get you started back on the right road . . . let me urge upon your will to be lovely and your complexion will respond . . . one of the most effective cream masks we know of is this little jar of fused facial cream. It is the answer to your complexion's plaintive cry: "I love life . . . I want to live." For it will do just that . . . wake up your skin . . . toss out lethargy . . . increase stimulation and send that nourishing supply of blood to re-invigorate the facial tissues.

Put it on . . . let it stay for a little while . . . and take it off. That's all there is to this wonderful cream alerter . . . yet in its ingredients you'll find the great identifying gusto of complexion charm as you find in John Charles Thomas' robust baritone.

For the name of this fused cream mask, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EVERY FACE wants to live . . . and if it is to be beautiful, it must look alive . . . vibrant and electrifying to the sight and touch. Don't have that "dead-from-the-neck-up" look to your complexion . . . but wake it up with a wonderful cream mask that puts sparkle where sparkle should be . . . in your cheeks.

Simple Everyday Rules To Be Thrifty With Bread

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

RESPONDING TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S urgent call to the Nation to help avert starvation abroad by conserving food, particularly bread, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has recommended a set of simple, everyday ways to be thrifty with bread. They point out that if every family in this country would save just half a slice of bread each day, a national daily saving of half a million pounds of bread could be accomplished.

Following are suggestions for conserving bread when buying as well as in kitchen and table use.

1—Try to buy only what you need. Many homemakers have regular days for food buying and purchase bread each time. If this leads to waste, consider whether you can delay bread buying a day or more, so that all of the last supply will be eaten.

2—Hold onto bread freshness. A well-ventilated, washable box provides good storage. If you can make room in the refrigerator, cool storage is still better for delaying staleness and preventing mold. Wherever it is stored, wrap bread well in moisture-proof paper.

3—Avoid serving too much bread at a meal. Left on a plate, bread may become dry and is sometimes thrown away. When slicing a loaf, cut slices at table as needed. Halving slices may further lessen waste.

4—When bread does get too hard for the table, be resourceful—there are many ways to use it. For example:

Dry bread makes crisp toast. And, besides plain toast, don't overlook such kinds as French, cinnamon, hot-milk, cheese, jelly and the thin Melba toast that smart restaurants often serve in place of soft bread.

Use dry bread in substantial desserts, such as bread and custard puddings, and baked fruit scallops made of slices or "fingers" of bread combined with canned or fresh fruits and a little sweetening and fat.

Turn odds and ends of bread into a supply of the dry crumbs that a good cook likes to keep handy. Besides the familiar uses of crumbs in coating foods for frying and topping baked dishes, and stuffing vegetables or meat, there are the bread crumb specials—crumb pastry for cream pies, crumb cake and crumb cookies.

5—Let a dish of oatmeal, which is plentiful, take the place of some of the toast at breakfast.

6—Eat an extra potato sometimes in place of another slice of bread, A small potato has food value just about equal to a slice of bread, except that the potato has an added advantage in its vitamin C.

CUSTARD BREAD PUDDING

2 cups soft bread crumbs or cubes
1 qt. milk
2 eggs
1-3 cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla extract
¼ tsp. nutmeg
¼ cup melted butter or margerine

Add the bread crumbs to the milk. Beat the eggs slightly, add the sugar and salt and mix thoroughly. Gradually stir in the scalded milk mixture, vanilla, nutmeg and butter. Pour into a greased or oiled 1½-quart baking dish, set in a pan of warm water; bake in moderate oven of 350 deg. F. for 75 minutes, or until a silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Eggs may be increased to 3 or 4, in which case baking time may be reduced. Serve warm or cold with cream, whipped cream, hard sauce, or vanilla sauce.

CRUMB GRIDDLECAKES

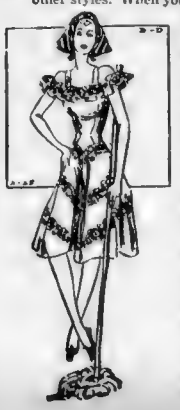
½ cup sifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups fine, day-old bread crumbs
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups milk
2 tbsp. shortening, melted
½ cup currants or rasins

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; stir in bread crumbs. Combine egg and milk; add to flour-crumb mixture, beating until well mixed. Add shortening and currants or raisins which have been washed and heated in moderately slow oven (325 deg. F.) until plump. Bake on greased, hot griddle. Makes 20 griddle cakes.

Stylish House Dress

By BETTINA BEDWELL

FASHIONS for you to wear while you do your home work are as exciting this spring as any other styles. When you wield the broom, shake out the dustrag and make beds you are going to be dressed as attractively as at any other time. Most house dresses have the features of good sport fashions, and they have the newest detail, too.



An example of what the makers of such things would like you to wear for home work is sketched by Miss Dulin. This beige house dress has the new off-shoulder neckline, basque waist and flared skirt. It is embroidered in bright multi-colored stripes. It's a Trudy Hall Jr., model.

Belgian Catholics Win 344 Councilorships

BRUSSELS, Feb. 25 (AP) The rightwing Social-Christian (Catholic) party won 344 of 696 councilorships in provincial elections and emerged today as the strongest single political party in Belgium.

The Socialist-Communist-Liberal combination, however, won the remaining 352 seats and thereby a possible chance to form a new coalition government under Socialist Leader Achille van Acker.

Vermont GI Bunks Baby Girl 2 Nights With Paris Troops

PARIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Pvt. Francis O. Tilley was in full retreat back to London tonight with his 17-months-old daughter, Katherine.

He had kept her in Paris for two nights, washed her diapers and cared for her in an enlisted men's billet.

His unattained objective was to elude Army quota delays and somehow get the baby back to his home in Burlington, Vt., or take the infant with him to his Army post in Germany.

American Army authorities rejected both projects. Instead, they gave Tilley a five-day extension of his 90-day re-enlistment furlough to take Kathrine back to her mother in Dundee, Scotland.

Unless Tilley can think up something else, his wife, Helen, and daughter must await their turn to sail from England with about 10,000 other GI dependents ahead of them, Army officials said.

Tilley must report to the Army reinforcement depot at Namur, Belgium, to take his place in the replacement forces in which he re-enlisted.

The Dufayel enlisted men's billet in Paris was thrown into an uproar Friday night when Tilley walked in with Kathrine on one arm and a dufflebag containing canned milk, cream and talcum powder under the other. Soon, everyone in the billet was helping care for the baby.

When Army authorities found out, they decided to send Kathrine and her father back to England on a channel boat.

The troops and housekeeping personnel in Dufayel cheered them as they took the boat train. As one soldier said:

"It was a good try anyway."

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I was a World War I widow and remarried. Now I'm a widow again. Am I entitled to widow's pension again? G. M., Montpelier.

A—No, if you refer to reinstatement of a pension based on your first husband's military service.

Q—Is a soldier with two dependent children eligible for a discharge? M. Z., Salem.

A—No. There must be three minor children.

Q—I'm a master sergeant's wife. Can I go overseas to be with him. O. S., Providence.

A—Yes, if your husband submits a request to his commanding officer for you to join him overseas and it is approved. In such case the Army will notify you how to proceed for your overseas journey.

Q—Does a veteran still write to the Chicago address about non-receipt of war bonds bought while in the Army? S. T., Concord

A—No. He should write to the new address—Army War Bond Office, Central Field Fiscal Office, Building 204, 4300 Goodfellow Boulevard, St. Louis 20, Missouri.

Q—What is the amount of the Federal Bonus for World War II? A. M., Boston.

A—There is no World War II Federal Bonus at this time. Certain proposals are under way in Washington.

Q—Now that commercial steamship travel is opening up where can a veteran get information about travel in the British Isles? R. P., Augusta.

A—Write to The Travel Association of Great Britain and Ireland, 6 Arlington st., St. James, London, S.W.F., England.

Q—Is an officer entitled to hospitalization for a service connected disability while on terminal leave? T. B., Hartford

A—Yes. He should report to the nearest Army hospital.

Q—Where can I, a veteran of World War II, write about my soldier deposits? A. C., Covington.

A—Write to Office of Special Settlement Accounts, U. S. Army, 25 Pine st., New York City.

Q—I've heard of a shoe exchange where a veteran with one leg can exchange shoes. What's the address? N. B., Medford.

A—You probably refer to the National Odd Shoe Exchange, 6267 Clemens ave., St. Louis 5, Missouri.

Embezzled Cash Not Taxable

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (INS) The Supreme Court ruled by a vote of 7 to 1 today that embezzled money does not constitute taxable income.

In an opinion written by Justice Murphy, the high tribunal stated: "Moral turpitude is not a touchstone of taxability. Sanctioning a tax under the circumstances before us would serve only to give the United States an unjustified preference as to part of the money which rightfully and completely belongs to the taxpayer's employer."

The case involved the embezzlement of some $12,000 by Laird Wilcox, a Reno, Nev., bookkeeper who lost the money in Reno gambling houses.

BIG ADVANCE SALE

Judging by the boxoffice sale at the Colonial for "State of the Union," the curtain will rise on that laugh hit tonight with a $50,000 advance sale. The New England Hospital for Women and Children has taken the house for Wednesday night, March 6. Mrs. Dorothy B. Blackall, who has the benefit in charge, reports the best sale for anything ever sponsored by her organization.

SHAKESPEAREAN FESTIVAL

At New England Mutual Hall, April 23, the Boston Tributary Theater will open its second annual Shakespearean Festival scheduled to run two weeks through May 4.

Fourth Concert By Symphony

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will give the fourth concert of the Monday evening series tonight at 8:15, the 18th concert of the longer series on Friday and Saturday, and the fourth concert of the Sunday afternoon series next Sunday, at 3:30. These concerts will be given in Symphony Hall.

The program for the Friday and Saturday concerts to be conducted by Serge Koussevitzky will consist of the first American presentation of music from Benjamin Britten's new Opera, "Peter Grimes." Commissioned by Dr. Koussevitzky in 1941 for performance at Tanglewood, "Peter Grimes," delayed in this production, was performed last summer by the Sadler's Wells Company in London with remarkable success. It is scheduled for early performance in Switzerland, Belgium and Sweden, and will have its first American production at Tanglewood next summer. The Suite to be performed this week will consist of a Passacaglia and Four Sea Interludes: Dawn, Sunday Morning, Moonlight, Storm. These excerpts, performed in England in concert form, are to have their first American presentation.

The concert tonight will be conducted by Richard Burgin

Black Market Babies Film Due

"Black Market Babies," a new film that seemed to know in advance all about current headlines on the subject, begins on Wednesday at the Old South and Tremont.

It tells of a corrupt syndicate dealing in the sale of unwanted infants. The cast includes Ralph Morgan, Kane Richmond, Jayne Hazard, Teala Loring, Marjorie Hoshelle and George Meeker. Monogram made it. William Beaudine directed.

Suggested by the widely read article of Virginia Reid, which appeared in Woman's Home Companion, the film is the first to picture the many tragedies which have resulted from unsupervised adoptions.

Southworth Confident His Braves Will Improve

By JACK CONWAY

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., Feb. 25—Billy Southworth looked across the table at this writer and said that he is sure that the Braves will have an improved ball club during the coming season, and that the Tribe will keep getting stronger as the season progresses.

Billy Southworth

"I have not attempted to make many deals so far," said Southworth. "There have been plenty of ballplayers on the market, but I have not bid for any of them as I do not yet know what I have on my own payroll. When I definitely find out what the weak spots are on our club, I shall do everything I can to strengthen them.

"It would have been silly for me to have bought certain ballplayers merely because they possessed particular ability. It is possible I have better players on my own squad. It would not be good baseball judgment to end, we'll say, with two or three top first basemen when we need players for other positions."

I asked Southworth what he thought of his infield.

"It looks as if we shall have a good infield," said the former leader of the world's champion Cardinals. "Jack McCarthy will play first base. He is a good fielder, while I look for him to display good batting power.

"Connie Ryan will be at second base. He is one of the greatest second basemen in the National League. In addition to being a good ball player, Ryan possesses a tremendous amount of spirit and he will carry other players along with him as we make our drive for victories. I have been very much impressed with everything Ryan has done since we have been here.

"Fernandez will play shortstop. Jurges has been given him special attention, teaching Fernandez the fine points of his position.

"When Fernandez was in the Pacific Coast League, he played shortstop for San Francisco. Eddie Miller was shortstop for the Braves when Fernandez joined the club. Miller is one of the greatest shortstops in baseball, and there was not a chance of Fernandez replacing him. So Fernandez was shifted to third base, and he never played the position well. He was then moved into the outfield. I think Fernandez can make good at his old position of shortstop. There are many players like Fernandez who do not do well when taken out of their regular position.

"Everyone knows how well Tommy Holmes did in the outfield for the Braves last season. His batting average of .352 was sensational. The improvement by Holmes was due to the fact he was taken out of center field and placed back at his regular outfield berth. I hope that when Fernandez gets accustomed to being at shortstop that he will prove one of the stars of the league.

Masi Greatest Catcher

While Southworth did not mention the name of Catcher Walker Cooper, purchased by the Giants from the Cardinals for $175,000, it is very apparent why Messrs. Perini, Rugo and Maney stopped bidding on him at $150,000.

"The greatest catcher in baseball today is Phil Masi," said Southworth with a tone of authority. "He is a great receiver, knows how to handle pitchers and can hit. He is a Braves fixture and will catch most of our ball games in 1946.

"We have six other catchers on our list, but Masi is tops. He is the class of the field. We shall keep at least two of the other receivers. Meanwhile, it will be handy to have the other catchers in camp as when we get our full squad here we shall have 20 pitchers. All of the pitchers will receive plenty of opportunities to work. The most inexperienced rookie will receive as much attention as Mort Cooper. One of these youngsters may prove a star.

"Max West, John Hope, Chester Wieczorck, Charlie Workman, Elmer Nieman, Carden Gillenwater, Tommy Holmes and our other outfielders will get a chance to bat against this pitching. I would like to get as much hitting strength as possible in my outfield. I cannot look for Wieczorck to play regularly. He will be a good man to have around as a pinch hitter. I expect Holmes, Hope and West will be the starting outfield.

Service Men Have Spirit

"I like the fine spirit that has been shown by returning servicemen. They have got into condition for baseball faster than I thought they would. Each of them is eager to make good in the big leagues.

"Our club offers excellent opportunities for ball players. We have few stars and it is almost an open fight for every position on the club.

"I have mapped out a strenuous training program. Our squad will be divided into units so that every player gets the most possible amount of work.

"You may have noticed how I keep the pitchers and catchers running in the deep outfield after they have completed their practice sessions. One of the reasons why pitchers tire and lose their control is because their legs are not in condition. How can one expect a pitcher to control the ball if he cannot control his own legs? A pitcher wobbly on his legs has not a chance with our club. We are going to correct this common weakness by giving the pitchers plenty of road work.

"There will be morning and afternoon drills. I do not believe any athlete was ever killed by hard work. If a player is not willing to work, we do not want him on the Braves."

Billy Southworth's eyes were as cold as steel as he talked. His jaw was firm. He reminded me of oldtime baseball leaders I knew. I thought particularly of John McGraw and Bill Carrigan.

The Braves are on the way up in the National League. You cannot talk with Billy Southworth and come away with any other opinion.

Lou Boudreau Ready To Play at Shortstop

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Mgr. Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians put himself through a stiff fielding workout yesterday and came out satisfied that his ankle, injured last August, had thoroughly mended.

The injury kept him out of the lineup during the latter part of the season and was a hard blow to the Indians' pennant chances.

AL LOPEZ WINS GAME

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 25 (AP)—Al Lopez came through with a pinch double in the eighth inning to score Hank Camelli and give the Yanigans a 7-6 win over the regulars in the first camp game at the Pittsburgh Pirates' training camp here today.

Big Sox Squad at Work

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 25—The long-awaited day is here at last. After a four-year absence from the South, the Red Sox opened training at Payne Field today with the largest squad in their history. It is a gifted squad, one generally picked by managers as the "team to beat" for the pennant.

The pitching department was topped by Tex Hughson and Dave Ferriss, and it will be interesting to find out what boys like Mickey Harris and Earl Johnson can do, boys who were just coming into their own in '41 when they entered the service.

Joe Cronin

Johnson, a veteran of every campaign in France and Germany after St. Lo, hasn't touched a baseball since 1943. How long will it take him to regain the touch that augured of greatness?

Johnny Pesky was back at shortstop for the first time since '42. Bobby Doerr returned to second after a year's absence. Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio were in the outfield after missing the 1943, 1944 and 1945 campaigns.

This promised to be the most zestful and colorful of all Red Sox training seasons. Can Rookie Al Flair beat out veteran Rudy York for the first base post? Who's going to play third base? Consensus seems to point to Andres, but Eddie Pellagrini, Ken Chapman, Don Lang and Ty LaForest promised severe competition. Who's going to play right-field? "I am, naturally," said Pete Fox, but Sam Mele from New York U. via. Hawaii, Johnny Lazor and George Metkovich didn't believe him.

Will Joe Dobson develop into a 20-game winner he's so long promised to be? Will veterans Mike Ryba and Mace Brown hold their own with splendid young physical specimens like Mel Deutsch, Jim Wilson, Bill Butland? Will Wilson be gun shy on the mound? He hasn't pitched a game since Hank Greenberg's line drive nearly killed him. Will Jim Bagby win as many close ones for the Sox as he lost for Cleveland last spring? Will the Sox have the best catching staff since Carrigan, Candy, Thomas and Nunamaker were helping to win pennants at Fenway Park? Will Williams hit as viciously as of yore?

There are so many questions to be answered, so much work to be done. No exhibition game is scheduled until March 9th, so that Cronin will have two full weeks to learn most of the answers.

Barring unforeseen happenings, the Sox promise to be the equal of any team in the league, the superior of most. But big league pennants are not won in the South. Let's take the season in stride.

The city of Sarasota spent approximately $10,000, erecting the new concrete wall around the ball park. However, the high green backboard in centerfield went down with the wind recently and hasn't been replaced. The hitters will squawk.

Practice started at 10 a. m. Arriving last evening from the frozen North were Pellagrini, Carey, Hal and Charlie Wagner, Mele, Heflin, Steiner, LaForest, Chapman, Pytlak, Harris and Woods, their train was two hours late. Wilson, Hughson, Richards, Lazor, Butland, Doerr, Brown and Campbell have their wives along and are living off the campus.

Clubhouse chatter was not of the "how'd you winter?" variety, but "how did you leave everything on Guam, Saipan," etc.

Joe Cronin, Larry Woodall and Bill Huddleston spent the off Sunday at the circus winter quarters. Californians Tobin, Conroy, McGah, O'Neill arrived by train. Fox, Lazor, Ferriss and Walters came over the road.

"Just one year ago today I received my discharge from the Army," said Ferriss on arrival. Bagby renewed Sox acquaintances for the first time since 1940. Ferriss and C. Wagner are roomies, and good ones.

Lost Weekend Hits Bruins' Tough Sock

By FRED HOEY

"Lost Week End" may be tops in the motion pictures but it's drab, dull and distressing so far as the Boston Bruins are concerned. Two games in the ash can over the week-end. Saturday night, Toronto 7, Bruins 2; last night, Detroit 4, Bruins 3.

The Bruins now find themselves too dangerously close to fourth place Detroit. Yet winning play off berths for third and fourth spots are not without their advantages.

Assuming the Bruins finished second. They would have to play the Canadiens in the first play off series if the latter leads. With a reasonable chance of being knocked off. Finishing third or fourth they have a chance to win that series and qualify to play for the top series.

The Bruins provided a shock last night when they broke up the famous Buddy Line which had been together since their Kitchener and Providence days. Milt Schmidt was dropped to center the Gordon Bruce-Terry Reardon line. Jack McGill moved up or over to fill in for Schmiddy with Dumart and Bauer.

The Bruins now have dropped three straight games on the road. They still have two more tough battles before they return home March 6 to play Detroit. The Rossmen next Wednesday play the flashy Canadiens in Montreal. Next Sunday they return to Chicago to play the Hawks.

It truly is a terrific trip for the Bruins.

Tony Lupien Weighs Fight on Coast Sale

Are laws of organized baseball above Selective Service law? Tony Lupien, who was sold by the Phillies to Hollywood today debated whether he would make the test by appealing to Selective Service.

Lupien returned from the Navy last September and played 15 games at his old first base position with Philadelphia. He hit .315. But the Phillies acquired Frank McCormick from Cincinnati during the winter and asked waivers on the former Harvard star.

Sale of Lupien to Hollywood was approved by Baseball Comr. Chandler. Baseball law holds that returning veterans must be given their old positions and pay for only a 15-day period.

Selective Service law says a veteran must be given one year to adjust himself to his old job, or its equal, at the same salary he was receiving at the time he entered service last March 5.

Lupien said he protested the sale on the grounds that he was not given an opportunity to earn back his old job. Furthermore, Lupien said, he had not heard from the Hollywood club which is already in spring training.

The 28-year-old former Harvard star, has been playing professional bal for seven years. He signed a Red Sox contract upon his graduation and played at Scranton, Little Rock and Louisville before coming up with the Sox four years ago. After two years with the Hose he went to the Phillies on waivers. He hit .274 during his career in the majors.

Pennock Says Lupien Given Every Chance

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 (AP)—General Manager Herb Pennock of the Phillies says Tony Lupien was given "every opportunity to make good" before being released.

Pennock, in commenting last night on Lupien's assertion from Lexington, Mass., that he was sold to Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League in violation of the GI Bill of Rights, said the Phils "bent over backward for him (Lupien)."

"As far as baseball rules or any other rules are concerned," Pennock asserted, "I believe a tryout was not necessary. He had every opportunity to make good during the 22 days he was with us last year.

"As a matter of fact, the Phillies saved him from the minors over a year ago when he was waived out of the American League and we signed him."

Rindge-Needham In Met Play-Offs

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schoolboy fans who have been arguing the potency of the Needham and Rindge Tech first lines may never know the solution in spite of the fact that the teams have been paired for the opening round of the Metropolitan hockey championships at the Boston Arena Friday night—the first of the two session play-offs.

Right now, it's doubtful if Wilf Roman, high-flying center, will be facing off in Coach Ernie Pelletier's Bay State Encup.

Roman, nursing pulled tendons in his leg, was unable to play with the Bay State League All Stars against the GBIs Saturday afternoon. He has had X-rays taken of his ankle, which revealed no broken bones, but his status as a starter is still doubtful. His loss will strip Needham of half its scoring punch as Roman went with Walt Sabroski as Len Gagnon with Dick Briand of the Rindge forces.

That's the combination the fans had been waiting for. The twin pairings paced their respective teams to hard-fought trophies so that their names became commonplace in registering goals and assists in the winning columns. The loss to Needham will break up one of the most interesting duels of the entire campaign.

Coach Tom Moon's Lexington outfit will have to wait until Wednesday night to learn its opponent in the first round of play. East Boston and Tech schools have qualified as district and city champions in the intown ranks so they'll battle it out for the right to move into the Mets. Tech was eliminated in the first round of play last year.

Finals of this title tourney will be held Saturday afternoon, with losers meeting in a consolation game.

Basketball in the Boston ranks will enter its final week with the High School of Commerce rooters keeping their fingers crossed in regard to the Eastern State championships. The bookkeepers of Coach Gene Plociennik, setting the pace, have not been definitely eliminated as yet as a candidate so that they could still qualify with a pair of victories against Jamaica Plain and Dorchester, both away from home.

Indoor track will be kept alive by the District Meet at the Armory. Thursday afternoon, field events and trials in the running events will be held in preparation for the wind-up Saturday. Of course, Coach Billy McCarthy's East Boston boys will be defending champions.

Unique Races at Franconia Slope

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

One of the most unique races in the history of skiing is scheduled to be run on the Mittersill Club Open Slope, Franconia, N. H., March 9 and 10—the site of the recent Foley Memorial ski races. Here's the data:

The events consist of slalom handicaps for veterans 32 to 62 years of age, and all amateur, recreational male skiers are eligible. The preliminary races will take place on triple courses, set identically alike. Each 32 to 42-year-old contestant will start 10 yards behind a 42 to 52-year-old racer, who pushes off 10 yards in back of each 52 to 62-year-old competitor.

The groups of three will start at the shot of a pistol, each twisting and turning through his separate gates, thus providing much excitement for spectators.

The five best winning times in the three-course slalom will be eligible for the final single handicaps. Contestants will run on the same route in this event, against the stop watch, the 10-yard handicap prevailing per age.

All events commence at 1:00 o'clock, Saturday and Sunday afternoon . . . Entries must reach Bernard Herbert, sports director, Mittersill Club, Franconia, N. H., by noon, March 9 . . . Suitable prizes will be awarded in each class . . . Sounds like fun!

SKI SCRIBBLINGS: Things are humming at that "ski-hive" of industry—Snow Valley, Manchester, Vt. . . . All attendance records were smashed during the past holiday period, with excellent skiing on all slopes . . . Several girls' schools had members present—the Fair Sex on skis!

Zollo vs. Moran At Mechanics

Punchers Bobby Zollo, Providence, and Johnny Moran, Brighton, collide tonight in the 10-round feature of a Callahan A. C. boxing show at Mechanics Building.

Zollo has won 23 straight, 20 of them by knockouts. Moran, performing mostly in Worcester, has registered 18 knockouts in 22 starts. More than 1000 fans from the heart of the Commonwealth will be on hand tonight to back their new favorite, vocally as well as financially. Zollo will be a favorite.

Moran, who is the type of fighter who needs only one punch to win, has been a winning pitcher, in baseball and boxing, since five years ago, when he was 18. Then he was pitching for Roxbury Memorial High and the Hurley Club of the Park League. The Red Sox wanted to take him South in 1941 and send him to Scranton after a once-over at Sarasota. Moran didn't think Scranton held half the charms of his native Roxbury or his adopted Brighton.

Fighting's his only business now and Moran could go all the way to the top. Matchmaker Sam Silverman of the Callahan A. C. says Moran is a stiffer puncher than Rockey Graziano. He's seen them both and elects Moran as his cleanup batter. Moran, if nothing else, is the first 150-pounder in the vicinity who has not balked at stepping in with Zollo.

Heading the preliminary program is an eight-round semi-final between Benny DelGaldo, supporting bout star last week when he knockout out Joe Terryo in three rounds, and Florian Desmaris, who has piled up a nine-straight win streak.

MAIN BOUT
Bobby Zollo, Providence, vs. Johnny Moran, Boston, 10 rounds.
SEMI-FINAL
Benny DelGaldo, Providence, vs. Florian Desmaris, Manchester, N. H., eight rounds.
OTHER BOUTS
Jackie Webber, Providence, vs. Lenny LaVote, Worcester, six rounds.
John Finney, Boston, vs. Eddie Sparks, New York, six rounds.
Charlie Celeste, East Boston, vs. George Butler, Waterbury, Ct., four rounds.

Dave Andrews Meets Hard Foe in Shans

Dave Andrews, Lowell's "Golden Boy," will meet the acid test in dusky Cleo Shans of Los Angeles, in the feature ten, at the Boston Arena, tomorrow night.

Shans ruined Lefty LaChance in a bout here and has beaten ex-featherweight champion, Jackie Callura, to provide a background for the toughest foe Andrews has met to date. However, the Lowell battler has earned the right to meet Shans by wading through a flock of simi-final opponents, with an impressive k.o. over Eddie Dowl, who had previously given Bobby Ruffin a hard clash.

After A High One

Stanley Wentzel, the American Association's most valuable player last year, goes after and gets a long, high one at Ft. Lauderdale, where he's getting a chance to make the grade with the Braves. He was with Indianapolis last year. Southworth has him slated as Johnny Hopp's understudy for the center field slot.
